baught the game because i love the series but sadly the game got neither a good gamplay (just repetitive hack ´n slay whcih is not even well done) nor the crazy humor of the series. i think there where some nice ideas for this but they where not executed properly.... Can't set even the most basic controls in the options, left and right mouse buttons aren't even available to be chosen. Uninstalled immediately, not worth even trying to play.. A philosophical FPS. Now, that's a term we don't hear too often, but this is one of those, for sure. I think the devs tried to implement some horror elements too, but I didn't really get to me. As well as the whole story, I might be too stupid, what do I know? But I just didn't follow along with the story to a 100%. It was interesting, it was a decent game, but in the end, would I recommend it? Not really. ONLY if you do what I did - picking it up during a sale. Got for like €1.49 or something along those lines. Worth that price but €12.99?! No way! NO WAY!

Finally, it gave a pretty decent assessment of who I am as a person. That was neat. But that doesn't bump up the rating. Have to give a thumbs down for this, due to it not being worth the full price. Sorry, devs.

Just ... kill your ego.. fairly simple but enjoyable.. A pretty standard HOG.

Pretty graphics, linear story (forget about the "side quests" mentioned in the blurb, there are none), not-too-great English grammar. Still, for its price it's worth adding to the collection - at least if you're a HOG aficionado.

. i have been following this game since its inception back around 2011. as a real life rollerblader, we are a dying breed. rollerblading hasnt been seriously in the spotlight for a LONG time and the last time we got a video game was aggressive inline back during the 6th generation of consoles. when i first heard about this game i was so excited and hopeful that maybe it would remind people that we (rollerbladers) are still around. i waited for 7 years for this game to come out and frequently checked the developers facebook. after 7 years i had pretty much given up hope and figured that the game was abandoned. one day out of pure coincidence i checked the developers facebook and they had announced that it was finally available on steam. i couldnt believe it and as soon as i got home from work i checked steam. there it was. i instantly bought it and couldnt wait to play it. "if this game took 7 years to make i cant imagine how good it will be" i thought. first impressions, it was pretty bad. "games are always like this in the beginning, im sure the devs will update the game and fix it" i thought. months passed and nothing. finally the devs upate the game after 6 months since i bought it. tried the game again, it was just as bad. almost a year has passed since the day i bought it, i waited patiently for the game to get better but it never did. i truly gave this game a chance and was even willing to put my money where my mouth is. as a heavy supporter of the rollerblading industry, it really pains me to have to ask for a refund but i simply cant support this game in its current state. maybe if the game is refined and overhauled ill give it another chance but as it stands, i would never recommend anyone pay $20 for this game. i would sooner recommend playing aggressive inline, jet grind radio, jet set radio future or rolling (if you can get your hands on a copy) before recommending on a roll.. Great little 2 hour puzzler. Level 57 drove me nuts. The rest were quite manageable. Nice flow and great music.
